

Product name: ENDORFY Scrim RD
Product code: EY8A002

Some think the Scrim RD deserves a medal for comfort. Others — that it could win a beauty contest for furniture. And the truth is that both teams are right. Our computer chair is a full package.

We designed it to wrap around the body like a physiotherapist and masseuse, all in one. It has a wide seat and a tall, profiled backrest with memory foam cushions that stabilize the cervical and lumbar regions.

On top of that, you can adjust practically every element of the Scrim RD — the angle of the backrest (from 90° to 150°), the seat (up and down), and the armrests (up-down, parallel right-left, front-back, and around its axis). Your new throne is also equipped with a top-class gas-lift with a lifting capacity of up to 120 kg.

The best ~~hotel~~ computer chair in town

The Scrim RD is like the best ~~hotel~~ computer chair in town — comfortable and as pretty as if it came off the cover of a design magazine.

Once you park yourself in it, you won't go anywhere for hours. Once we even fell asleep in the Scrim RD, which is why we now opt for a wooden stool for extended meetings. Apparently, not everyone is okay with our loud snoring.

That's thanks to the wide seat and high backrest made of cold-pressed foam that masterfully keeps its form even after months of intensive use. You also get two memory foam cushions, which stabilize the spine in strategic places — the cervical and lumbar sections. We adjusted them for people between 1.70 and 1.95 m tall.

You + the Scrim RD = <3

When you spend half your life at the PC, you know all the nasty things a computer chair can do to your spine. That's why we made sure that the Scrim RD fine-tunes to you at all strategic points.

Simply adjust every element of the chair and you're good to go ~~go~~ sit. You can change the height of the seat (450-500 mm), set the armrests (up-down, parallel right-left, front-back, and around its axis), and the angle of the backrest (from 90° to 150°).

The Scrim RD also has a multilock mechanism. In practice, this means that you can choose one of five seat angles – or unlock it completely. Multilock harmonizes with a wide range of backrest adjustments, so you can choose the most comfortable position. The whole thing is held up by the highest – fourth – class of a gas-lift that holds up to 120 kg (or 150 kg, if you don't move).

Just ~~breathe~~ breathable materials

The Scrim RD will last for years. We finished it with two types of durable material – PU leather on the sides and breathable fabric that ensures air circulation on the seat and backrest. You can ~~work~~ play for hours without the risk of getting as hot as a PC after a full night of gaming on the highest settings.

In the summertime. Without air conditioning.
